—Chicago Rally— Top Demo Leaders Rap GOP 'Save Nation,' Says HST; Adlai Hints At 'Crusade'

CHICAGO (AP) — Democrats rallied Sunday night in advance of a two day party conference, with Harry S. Truman urging them "to save the country" and Adlai Stevenson declaring it may be necessary to start a Democratic "crusade" against the Republicans.

And National Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell slapped at Democrats who might try to get elected by riding President Eisenhower's coat-tail, but upheld those who support the Chief Executive when they agree with him on issues confronting the country.

Mitchell said he thinks agriculture is a "very important issue" for the Democrats and that is why an agriculture policy panel is scheduled for the party conference here.

"The issue," the national chairman said, "is that the farmer is working harder now and getting less for it than he did under the Democrats."

Mitchell said, too, he believes repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law will be a big Democratic issue. He said this is in the party platform and he favors repeal rather than amendment as proposed by the GOP.

The big party meeting beginning Monday is designed to spark the 1954 campaign to put Democrats back in control of Congress. Party leaders streamed into Chicago from all over the country during the day.

The keynote of the day's events was harmony, with leaders soft-pedaling the threat of an explosion at the conference over the controversial party loyalty oath.

To the several hundred women and a good many men packed into a ballroom, Truman said:

"When we get through here, we will all go home and get in position so the Democrats will do what is necessary to save the country."

Serving as a sort of master of ceremonies, Truman introduced Stevenson as "the number one Democrat in the United States." The 1952 party presidential nominee took a dig at Eisenhower's contention that the GOP campaign last year was a "great crusade."

"It wasn't a crusade," Stevenson said, "but it begins to look as if we might need one and I'll be happy to start it."

Nobody knew whether that was a tipoff that Stevenson might try for the nomination again in 1956.

The luncheon at Mitchell's apartment lasted nearly three hours.

Stevenson told reporters later that there was some "ragging of the (Eisenhower) administration" at the luncheon.

Asked if there was discussion of Truman's recent suggestion that the Democrats take off the gloves in attacking Eisenhower, Stevenson replied that there was "not too much of that." He indicated that he, personally, doesn't consider the time quite ripe for an all out attack.

Figuring in the luncheon meeting, he said, was a reference to the resignation of Martin Durkin as Eisenhower's secretary of labor in a disagreement with the White House over amending Taft-Hartley.

Alliance POW Enjoys Family Reunion

Pfc. Charles L. Fronapfel, of Alliance (center) is greeted by his brother, Lt. Harold Fronapfel (left), and his mother, Rose, on his arrival at

San Francisco Sunday from Korea, aboard the Marine Phoenix that returned 377 ex-POWs. (AP Wirephoto Sunday Night.)

Lincolnite Awaits Travel Orders Home

Pvt. Jessie J. Singleton of Lincoln lights up a cigarette in San Francisco Sunday, as he awaits his travel orders home. Pvt. Singleton is the second Lincolnite released by the Reds to arrive in the United States. He returned with Pfc. Charles Fronapfel of Alliance aboard the Marine Phoenix.

Pvt. Singleton, Freed POW, Says Treatment Poor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pvt. Jesse Singleton of Lincoln, captured only 13 days before the Korean armistice, declared emphatically Sunday "some of the guys captured late in the war said they were treated all right, but as far as I'm concerned I wasn't treated worth a damn."

Singleton, who returned to the United States Sunday aboard the Navy Transport Marine Phoenix, was headed straight home for Lincoln and the wife and child he left behind just under six months ago.

"They hiked us from the Kumhwa Valley all the way north to the Yalu River. They kept us walking when we were so doggone tired, hungry and cold we could hardly move. They didn't beat us but if we slowed down they would point a gun at us, pull the hammer back and jabber away at us something fierce. None of us know what they were saying but we knew what they meant."

Singleton said they got no formal propaganda lectures but that each evening when they stopped marching some Chinese "would get us all together and give us a lot of this Communist stuff. The way they were treating us there wasn't a chance anyone could fall for their line."

Singleton was a member of the 555th Field Artillery Battalion. He plans to stay in the Army until his enlistment is up in July, 1954, then will go back to work as a brick mason.

"The trip home on the Marine Phoenix was wonderful. It was really swell. I ate like a pig and picked up a lot of weight," he said.

Singleton had a reservation on a United Airlines plane leaving San Francisco at 8:40 p.m., Central Daylight Time Sunday and arriving at Lincoln 11 a.m. Monday.

Singleton's wife and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Wixon, 2317 So. 9th, received a wire from him shortly after his ship docked. He told them he was "all right and feeling fine."

Post No. 131 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will welcome Pvt. Singleton when he steps off the plane.

Lincoln civic organizations plan a welcoming parade for Singleton next Thursday, "if it's all right with him," Merle Karpnopp, exalted ruler of Elks Lodge No. 80, said Sunday night.

Details of the parade will be worked out early in the week. Last Thursday the first Lincoln POW to return, Cpl. Frank Effinger, had such a parade in his honor.

Another Lincoln man, 1st Lt. Lyle W. Cameron, 24, is one of 309 airmen the Defense Department said are believed captured but never accounted for by the Communists.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland D. Cameron, 5102 Garfield, have had no other information about their son since he was reported missing in action after the F-84 jet he piloted was shot down Oct. 26, 1952.

The Red China radio claimed his plane was shot down in a mission over a Manchurian town, but the U. S. Air Force reported that other members of the flight saw him bail out and land in North Korea about 25 miles south of the Manchurian border.

Freed Alliance POW Loses 15 Pounds From Seasickness

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Young Pfc. Charles L. Fronapfel of Alliance got very seasick en route here from a prisoner of war camp in Korea and lost 15 pounds.

He and 376 other former POWs arrived Sunday aboard the transport Marine Phoenix.

Fronapfel, 21, who first enlisted in the Army when he was only 15, was met at the Fort Mayon dock by his mother, Mrs. Rose Fronapfel, and his brother, Cavalry 2nd Lt. Harold Fronapfel, 24, who got leave from Camp Carson in Colorado.

"He hasn't changed a bit, but I didn't know what to expect," the happy mother commented. "The 6-foot soldier put an arm around his mother and pulled his brother close with the other. 'I kept my weight about even 180 pounds — during the 38 months I was a prisoner,' he related."

"But I lost 15 pounds coming home on the Marine Phoenix because I got very seasick."

The black-haired youth, all smiles, enlisted when he was 15, went overseas when 16 and was captured when he was 18.

"We didn't have anything to read in the POW camp but the New York Daily Worker and other Red papers which nobody paid any attention to," he said.

Demo TV Coverage

CHICAGO (AP) — Up to late Sunday night the following television coverage had been announced for the Democratic two-day party conference:

Sam Rayburn, introductory remarks by Sen. Guy Gillette, the toastmaster and Mayor Martin H. Kennelly of Chicago. The Chicago area will be blacked out for the program scheduled for 9 to 9:30 p.m., EST.

Water Use Curbs To Stay In Effect

Restrictions on use of water will continue in effect "for the time being," Mayor Clark Jearry said Sunday night.

Earlier reports indicated that the restrictions, which permit odd and even number residences to water lawns on alternate days, might be lifted after the State Fair.

But with the present hot and dry spell continuing, Jearry said, peak consumption might reach a critical peak again if the curbs are withdrawn now.

Silver Theft Reported

Mrs. Max Cochrane, 3841 D, reported to Lincoln Police Sunday morning theft of 34 pieces of silverware from her home valued at $250. It was not known how entrance to the home was gained.

Rita, Yasmin Threatened With Death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Rita Hayworth has received two threats threatening death to herself and her daughter Yasmin unless they return to Aly Khan, the FBI was told Sunday.

The film star's attorney, Bartley Crum, confirmed reports he had told the FBI of the letters. The first, he said, was received a few days ago and the second Saturday.

Crum said he had seen the second note. "In effect it said that unless Miss Hayworth returned to Aly at once, she and Yasmin would be killed," he asserted.

The attorney added he had not seen either envelope but was told the first one bore a New Rochelle, N. Y., postmark.

"We placed a guard at the house here because Rita's children are here. I don't know if this is serious or not, but it would be very foolish to take a chance."

Offutt Sergeant Killed Near O'Neill

O'NEILL, Neb. (AP) — S. Sgt. Antonio Gonzales, 22, stationed at Offutt Air Force Base, Omaha, was killed early Sunday in a one-car accident 1½ miles northwest of here on Highway 20.

Investigating officers said the car overturned on a curve at the intersection of U.S. 20 and U.S. 281. Gonzales was thrown free of the car. His home was listed as San Antonio, Tex.

The death boosted Nebraska's highway fatality toll for the year to 207 as compared to 236 at this time in 1952. It was the second death this year in Holt County.

Plebiscite Sought As Peaceful Settlement Of Explosive Issue

Tito Warns West Not To Back Italians

SPLIT, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia strongly cautioned the West Sunday against supporting Italy's claim upon Trieste.

He also told the Italians themselves they would "break their heads" against a stone wall of Yugoslav resistance if they attempt to seize the territory by force.

In this ancient Adriatic city of Split he spoke before a gathering, officially estimated at well over 150,000 on the 10th anniversary of the formation of Yugoslavia's 8th Army Corps.

He repeated his proposal, made near the Italian border just a week ago, for internationalization of the port city of Trieste itself with Yugoslavia acquiring the balance of the area.

In vigorous terms he denied and he denounced rumors which he said were being spread principally by Italy for "propaganda purposes" that Yugoslavia is turning back to the Russian-led Communist East and abandoning its Western supporters.

At the same time he voiced a "suspicion" that some circles in the West, particularly in Britain, were plotting with Italy against Yugoslavia's interest. He asked: "Where are their brains?"

While tens of thousands poured out a welcome with cries of "Hero Tito," and "Tito is ours," the Yugoslav leader mounted the rostrum overlooking Split's waterfront, laid aside his white blouse and plunged immediately into a fiery denunciation of Italian policy.

Speaking with only an occasional reference to a few notes, he turned with sarcastic humor in referring to Italy's action in moving troops up to the Yugoslav frontier in apparent anticipation of Yugoslavia was planning to formally annex Zone B of Trieste.

He referred to reports in the Italian press that Italy planned to keep the troops located on the border until the Trieste issue is settled.

"They will have to keep them there a long time if they expect to solve it on the basis of the tripartite agreement," he said.

That agreement, signed in 1948 by Britain, France and the U. S., but never passed, called for return of all the Trieste territory to Italy.

He referred to reports in the Italian press that Italy planned to keep the troops located on the border until the Trieste issue is settled.

Reds Demand Round Table Talks—Or Else

From Press Dispatches

TOKYO (Monday) — Red China served notice on the West today that rejection of the Communist proposal on the composition of the Korean peace conference might mean the conference would never take place.

The warning was issued on the heels of Chinese Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai's message to the U. N. Assembly demanding the inclusion of India, Pakistan, Indonesia and Burma in the conference to settle the Korean question.

The warning was contained in an editorial published by the Peking People's Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist regime. The editorial, broadcast this morning by Radio Peiping and heard in Tokyo, said rejection of the Red plan would be taken by the Communists as "deliberately scheming to obstruct the convocation of the political conference."

It launched properly, he said, the mechanism would remain at that altitude and circle the earth at a speed of 25,000 feet per second, or once every two hours.

The 500-ton satellite observation platform would hover about the earth in the same manner as does the moon, Sutton said, although the moon, much higher, circles the globe in a day-long cycle.

Sutton, supervisor of propulsion division of North American Aviation, Inc., said the information comes from technicians who have fled from behind the Iron Curtain—including escaped Polish military experts, German rocket scientists "somehow and probably mistakenly" released by the Soviet Union—and from technical Russian literature.

Once launched the platform would never return to earth, he said, adding, "thus it will not be used as a site to hurl destruction earthward."

Information gained from elaborate radio and television relays could prove invaluable, the rocket engineer continued. "Just think how important it would be for the Kremlin in a possible future war to get frequent reports on where our factories are, how many ships are in New York harbor and locations of massing troops."

When launched such a satellite would weigh 500 tons, he said. Ninety per cent of the weight would be fuel and oxidizers to power 16 engines which

Mrs. America Title Won By Pennsylvanian

ASBURY PARK, N. J. (INS) — Pennsylvania captured beauty's double-crown Sunday when a stunning, brownette mother of two took top honors in the "Mrs. America" contest at Asbury Park.

Twenty-four-year-old Mrs. Erna Snyder of Kutztown, Pa., became the second Pennsylvanian in 24 hours to capture a national beauty title. Twenty-year-old Evelyn Margaret Ay, Ephrata, Pa., won the "Miss America" crown Saturday.

In winning the "Mrs. America of 1954" title over 32 other beautiful wives from the U.S., Hawaii and Canada, Mrs. Snyder netted prizes worth more than $10,000.

Mrs. Snyder's husband, Kenneth, is a lithographer in Kutztown. The couple married five years, have two sons.

Mrs. Snyder, who is five feet, four-and-three-quarter inches tall and weighs 115 pounds, weighs 115 pounds, boasts these prize-winning measurements: 34-23-34.

Richard Dehning Injured In Auto, Motorcycle Crash

Richard Wayne Dehning, 17, 1113 N. 21st, suffered a concussion, a gash on the right side of the head, cuts and bruises on the knee and burns on his back in a motorcycle-auto accident eight miles east of Lincoln on Highway 34 Sunday night.

An attending physician said he was not in serious condition but was held overnight at Bryan Memorial Hospital.

Dehning was driving a motorcycle west on Highway 34 when the two-wheeled vehicle collided with an automobile also traveling west driven by Fred Ludwig, 34, 1828 N. 28th.

The motorcycle was thrown into the ditch by the impact. No one in the Ludwig car was injured, but the front of the car was smashed.

Pella Seeks Meet To Establish Machinery

ROME (AP) — Premier Giuseppe Pella called Sunday for a plebiscite in the entire free territory of Trieste as a democratic means of solving the burning issue endangering relations between Italy and Yugoslavia.

Pella also proposed a five-nation meeting "very soon" in a neutral locality to set up the machinery for conducting the plebiscite in which residents of the free territory would vote for adherence to either Italy or Yugoslavia. He said that representatives of the United States, France, Britain, Italy, and Yugoslavia would plan the voting.

The premier, speaking at Rome's Campidoglio City Hall on historic Capitoline Hill, rejected bluntly Yugoslav President Tito's latest demands regarding Trieste.

Pella, who spoke on the 10th anniversary of the defense of Rome against the German occupiers after Italy had signed an armistice with the Allies in World War II, harked back to a pronouncement on Trieste by the United States, Britain and France in 1948 before Tito broke with the Soviet-dominated cominform. Pella said that statement, which called for return of all the free territory to Italy, is "still a valid instrument that cannot be removed."

The Italian peace treaty took the Trieste area away from Italy and gave it free territory status.

'No Troops'

The Italian premier said that the plebiscite for which he called to settle the hot dispute should be held under democratic principles and, "it is well understood, without the presence of troops of either interested party."

There are no Italian troops in the free territory. Britain and the United States administer Zone A, which includes the city and port of Trieste, and have troops there. Italy also has been given a voice in the city's administration. Yugoslav troops are in Zone B, which Tito's forces occupy and administer.

Sunday's speech by Pella was his first major political address since he took office last month.

Velde Report Is Attacked By Ministry

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Velde (R-Ill.), his House Un-American Activities Committee and its report on alleged Communist activities of clergymen brought attacks Sunday from the ministry.

The Rev. Dr. Harry F. Ward, named by committee witnesses as the leader of a plan to "Communistize" Methodist clergymen, sent a letter to Velde Sunday "as a minister of the church to which you belong."

Ward, writing from his Palisades, N. Y., home, enclosed a copy of a statement issued Friday calling the committee testimony about his alleged Communist activities "completely false."

In his letter to Velde, Ward said "in spite of your original assurances, you have entered the field of religion forbidden to Congress by the Constitution."

"You are weakening the power of the Protestant conscience and intimidating the voice of its pulpit. This constitutes restriction on the free exercise of religion which is forbidden Congress by the Constitution."

Ward would be "kicked off" one at a time as the platform nears its orbit.

He said the "star" would weigh only 10 tons when it reaches 200 miles and added it would have to be launched so that it would circle the earth vertically. If it revolved horizontally it would be able to observe activities only at and near the equator, he explained.

Sutton stopped off briefly in Denver to visit relatives en route home from a government business trip to Washington. He also is chairman of the Southern California branch of the American Rocket Assn., and a UCLA faculty member.

—Mossadegh's Fate—

Trial Is Ordered By Shah

TEHRAN (AP)—The Shah of Iran Sunday officially ordered a courtmartial to try former Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

The monarch's action removed Mossadegh from the jurisdiction of the Tehran military governorate under which he has been undergoing preliminary questioning in secret for about a week.

The move placed him formally in the hands of a courtmartial before which he must defend his actions during the four August days in which he defied the Shah's decree removing him from office in favor of Zolalah Zahedi.

A government spokesman said the courtmartial members have already begun questioning Mossadegh, 72-year-old Nationalist leader, in secret.

The formal charges Mossadegh must face are not yet formulated. These are expected to be made this week.

The spokesman said Mossadegh is now being held in the grim, Soltanabad arsenal. He added:

"Under Army rules and regulations permission of the Shah was asked for prosecution by a military court. The Shah has agreed. Therefore the accused has been transferred from the jurisdiction of the military government authorities to that of an army court."

"Secret questioning is being continued. Visitors are prohibited. At the end of the investigation no information can be revealed."

Rainfall Lack Doesn't Mean Sure Drought

By SALLY ADAMS
Star Staff Writer

Lack of rainfall in central and eastern Nebraska this summer does not mean the state is heading for another drought, W. R. Stevens said Sunday.

Stevens, meteorologist in charge of the Lincoln weather station, said it was highly unusual for rainfall to be below normal for two successive years.

The normal pattern in the state, he said, was for rainfall to return to normal after a dry year such as the state is now having.

However, Stevens said, it is impossible to forecast weather conditions for next year. He pointed out that it is possible, although highly unusual, for the state to have three dry years in succession as happened in the 1890s, 1914, and the 1930s.

Stevens said there was a definite lack of sub-soil moisture in central and eastern Nebraska. The state will need above normal rainfall next year to bring the sub-soil moisture up to a point where it will be most favorable for crop production, he said.

He pointed out that even in the '30s there were years when rainfall was normal or above but crops did not improve because of the depletion of sub-soil moisture during previous dry years.

The rainfall pattern this year has not followed that of 1931, the first dry year, Stevens said. At the time, he said, the west and central areas were dry. This summer the rainfall has been below normal in the east and central and normal or above in the extreme west.

So far, he said, September precipitation has been above normal, but the state is going to have to receive more soon to maintain that standard.

News Around The Globe

'Break Out' Try

MUNSAN, Korea (Monday) (P)—The commander of Indian troops guarding Communist prisoners who refuse repatriation today praised his soldiers for "magnificently" controlling an "attempted break-out" of some 500 North Koreans last Thursday.

It was the first indication that the disturbance—touched off when the violently anti-Communist POWs spotted two Red officers—was more than a rock-throwing incident.

Maj. Gen. S. P. P. Thorat told his Indian troops that "in dealing with them, often in the face of grave provocation, you have shown much patience and great tact."

New French Attack

HANOI, Indo-China (P)—French Union troops, aided by the air force and mobile artillery, launched a new offensive action in the Red River delta at dawn Sunday aimed at wiping out Vietminh troops who have been raiding the American-financed model resettlement village of Dong Quan, 47 miles south of Hanoi. 'Demo Digest Harmful'

WASHINGTON (P)—The Republican National Committee charged today that foreign circulation of the Democratic Digest is "deliberately encouraging distrust of ourselves and our ideals" abroad.

Chairman Leonard W. Hall made the assertion in an open letter to Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for President in last year's election.

The Digest is a pocket-sized publication edited by officials of the Democratic national committee. They have described its aim as temperate and humorous, rather than strident and abusive, criticism of the Republicans.

Autopsy Planned In Traffic Death Of Man At Omaha

OMAHA (P)—An autopsy was to be performed on a Charles Andersen, 69, of Omaha, who collapsed and died following a traffic accident Sunday in South Omaha.

The widow, Mrs. Hazel Stone, told police that previously boys had thrown garden furniture in the pool. She said that while her husband was watching a program Saturday night he heard prowlers outside and went out to chase them, although she warned him against exertion.

Stone was known for his kindness to movie beginners in his position as unofficial dean of Hollywood actors.

Confining Kinsey To Experts Denounced By Lincoln Pastor

To plead that the Kinsey reports be made available only to so-called experts is to show a tragic lack of faith in the democratic process of the day, the Rev. I. J. Domas said Sunday.

Rev. Domas, pastor of the Unitarian Church, said he had found the first Kinsey report of 1948 invaluable in counseling men and women in areas surrounding sex practices.

Confirmation of faith in human nature is one of the chief ethical insights found in the "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male," he said. Rev. Domas quoted Dr. Kinsey as saying: "In the present instance, the chief appeal has been altruistic: an invitation to contribute to basic scientific research, an opportunity to help others by sharing one's experience."

For each group the mode of appeal is different, but in each case it is based on the measure of altruism that is found—if one knows how to find it—in nearly all men."

Pope's Warning

Rev. Domas contrasted Dr. Kinsey's statement with the warning issued by Pope Pius XII on April 15. He quoted Pope Pius as saying that psychoanalysts must refrain from inducing a patient "to reveal secrets that should on no account be divulged."

According to Rev. Domas, the Pope also said "there are secrets that must on no account be divulged even to a doctor, even in spite of grave personal inconvenience."

A sexual ethic based on Holy Writ is even less desirable, Rev. Domas said. Chapters in Genesis, he said, clearly sanction male domination, duplicity, polygamy, concubinage, incest and prostitution. (Genesis 3:16; 19:30-38; 29:15 to 30:24; 38:1-26.)

"If John 8:3-11 represents a high level of concern for the woman who errs, what is to be said for the derogation of womanhood expressed in Ephesians 5:22-25, 33, and I Peter 3:1-7?" Rev. Domas asked.

He said Dr. Kinsey observed in his second book, "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female," that:

"It is the record of science that greater knowledge as it has become more available has increased man's capacity to live more happily with himself and his fellowmen... We believe that the scientist who obtains his right to investigate from the citizens at large, is under obligation to make his findings available to all who can utilize the data.

"As in other areas of science, the restriction of sexual knowledge to a limited number of professionally trained persons, to physicians, to priests, or to those who can read Latin, has not sufficiently served the millions... who need such knowledge in their everyday affairs."

It Happened In NEBRASKA---

Nebraska City in the 1850's was little more than an Indian country trading post. Soon this primitive log settlement was to feel the strife of the antislavery issue, as John Brown smuggled slaves along this route for their escape to the North. What trying days for a young, new city!

Reds Trailing In Race Against Hunger

ROME (P)—The rest of the world is raising its food production in the grim race with hunger at a rate faster than Russia, Sovietized Eastern Europe and Red China.

Even with the lack of adequate information from behind the Iron Curtain, this was a statistical conclusion of the 1953 world food review of the United Nations FAO.

The Soviet Union Radio announced a "grow more food" campaign in a report from the Central Committee of the Communist Party in Moscow. The report said stockbreeding was lagging behind, productivity of cattle is low, and rapped "bad management" and high production costs of some socialist farms.

The 60-nation Food and Agriculture Organization found that for this lopsided world as a whole, it is still true that the plump get fatter and the lean get thinner. This year the FAO report found one strong note of optimism:

"For the first time since 1939, though as yet insecurely, world food production on a global basis caught up with the growth of world population." FAO declared however, that without the remarkable expansion of food output in North America, it would have been impossible to avoid disastrous famines in the post-war years.

North America's 7 per cent of the world population now produces over 20 per cent of the world's total food.

Production has expanded rapidly in countries which already were able to feed themselves well. But although progress has been made, in the hunger areas food consumption levels remain inadequate—and in the Far East are even lower than before.

FAO said it has no complete figures from the Soviet section of the world which holds itself apart from the UN's efforts to cope with the hunger of mankind.

But its statistics showed that even though population is increasing more slowly in Russia, East Europe and China, these countries lag behind in the race for increased food production.

In his foreword to the report issued at FAO's world headquarters in Rome, Director General Norris E. Dodd said: "Nearly 70 per cent of the world's population lives in the less developed regions. To raise their average diet to the present average of the world as a whole—which is only about half the present North American level and by no means a high standard nutritionally—would require additional supply of food equal to the total 1952-53 production of North America and Oceania combined." The report noted that concern has been felt in producer and marketing circles over some surpluses which have developed locally in food supplies since the end of the Korean War came in sight.

Abuses Of Partisanship

There is much talk in Nebraska at this time among the politicians on the need for strengthening the two major political parties. Their concern is understandable.

When it comes to the tonic they prescribe, however, there is room for a difference of opinion. For example, as a means to an end, there is the somewhat amusing agreement between GOP State Chairman Dave Martin and Democratic State Chairman W. H. Meier, arms around each other, to proceed in non-partisan manner to restore partisanship to the Nebraska Legislature. They seem to think that all natural and logical political differences within the two parties are of far less consequence than to be able to choose a legislature by party label.

They are, of course, earnest in their efforts, convinced that if they succeed in doing away with the non-partisan Nebraska Unicameral Legislature, they will have performed a great service for the people.

We rather like the attitude of Mrs. India Edwards, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who on the eve of the big Democratic shindig in Chicago told newsmen that she would much prefer to see the Republican administration successful rather than flop.

"I don't want to see my party succeed on the basis of Republican mistakes," she added. "In the world today, there is no leeway for American mistakes. The administration is making a hash of our foreign policy. I want to see the Republicans successful abroad—but I see no indication that they are."

One sentence uttered by the little woman deserves a great deal of attention. This nation cannot afford the luxury of satisfying its partisanship by relying on mistakes and failures which the Republican administration in Washington may make. We have much too much of a job on our hands. We are too close to the borderline. There is nothing to win and everything to lose if the Eisenhower administration messes things up so as to invite trouble abroad or precipitate trouble here at home.

It would not be solely Republicans or Democrats who would suffer. No one would escape. Before many more months, the Eisenhower administration in its criticism throughout the last campaign will find itself terribly embarrassed by what it said then. It will be embarrassed by unfulfilled promises and pledges, but no less embarrassed than by some of the loose criticism which it voiced and which will be equally applicable to the present administration.

Partisanship can be abused. Mrs. Edwards voices a refreshing, healthy view when she warns her party associates against hoping that the present administration makes enough mistakes to sweep it out of power. If it does, people might discover there is very little left upon which to build.

Primary Highway Purpose

"The attitude of Highway 30 Association regarding the construction of bypasses around the larger towns along the route is unreasonable," the Hastings Tribune declares editorially. "Spokesmen for the association are afraid, according to statements in the press, that if the highway is relocated, some of the businessmen in the towns won't make as much money from the tourists as they will if the road is left unchanged."

Then the Tribune continues: "Just how selfish can people get? Certainly the businessmen in towns along Highway 30 aren't so dependent upon the tourists that routing them around the towns will bring financial loss."

Take the experience of Hastings as set forth in the Tribune. Highway 6 bypasses Hastings, and in the judgment of the Tribune, most of the businessmen of that community are glad of it. When main arteries of travel are routed through bustling cities and towns, two things are bound to happen: (a) traffic congestion; (b) wear and tear on the streets.

It is understandable that in the instance of many communities, opposition arises when the highway program leaves a community set off on the siding—some distance from the main-traveled road.

All this discussion, however, is somewhat beside the point. In the construction of highways, the main—in fact, the only—objective is to accommodate the smooth, safe flow of traffic. The trend at this time in most of the states where main arteries of travel are being revamped is to route traffic around cities and towns.

That is done purely to facilitate traffic and not to deprive any town or community of tourist business.

Winnie Comes Back

The contradictory reports about the health and plans of Sir Winston Churchill continue to play a large part in discussions of foreign policy. This man who has left so great a mark on the history of this century is so dynamic that his well-being, or lack of it, can itself alter the course of the coming weeks and months.

Recent photographs and the glowing reports of those who have talked with him indicate that Mr. Churchill plans to return to his tasks with full energy this month. He appears to be fit enough to carry on the routine work of presiding over the cabinet, reading documents and making the more important decisions. There is even mention in press dispatches that Sir Winston is ready to enter the election battleground once again if necessary, pitching in with major speeches to secure his government in power.

The Conservative government enjoys a majority in the House of Commons, but it is a slender majority. Some startling turn of events could topple the government and force an election. If this happened, Mr. Churchill might be confronted with an election campaign at a time when he would most desire a free and strong hand to make major policy decisions.

He is the grand old man of Britain, and there is no evidence that he has lost any of his uncanny political wizardry. Although it is not always possible for most Americans to agree with him, his return to full-time duty will be generally welcomed in this country.

7,000 Worthless Shoes

If you think you have troubles, consider the case of Gus Helopoulos of Kankakee, Ill., who has 7,000 shoes, none of which match. Mr. Helopoulos got into this predicament when he ordered 4,000 pairs of Army surplus shoes. He received 500 pairs in good order, but what was supposed to be 3,500 pairs turned out to be 7,000 shoes which didn't go together any way he tried it.

Many a mother who knows what it means to have a child's closet full of left shoes and right shoes which don't match will sympathize with Mr. Helopoulos. There must be some use for shoes that don't match, but offhand they seem to be as big a white elephant as any man has ever coped with.

Nice Try, At Least

One of the better stories to come out of Washington recently concerns the congressman who tried to give Rep. John Williams, Mississippi Democrat, a helping hand during the last hours of the recent session.

The congressman saw Williams giving a guided tour of the Capitol to two constituents, approached Williams and congratulated him on the fine speech he had made in the House the previous day. Williams hadn't thought of such speech, but his colleague thought he could stretch the truth to help a friend.

Only trouble was it didn't work. Turned out that the two constituents were deaf.

Dulles Now Feels Free To Speak Out Bluntly

WASHINGTON—When John Foster Dulles was suddenly summoned to Denver last week, many people, including the secretary of state himself, figured he was in for a presidential spanking for his off-the-cuff remark about U. S. support for Chancellor Adenauer, which caused such a furor among German Socialist voters.

But when Dulles got to Denver, he was agreeably surprised. The President, busy with golf, fishing, and domestic political problems, hadn't heard much about the political furor kicked up by the Dulles statement. So when his secretary of state explained the incident Eisenhower made a very laconic reply.

Our man won't be, he said in brief. Then what are we worrying about? If your support was a mistake, maybe you can arrange to make a similar mistake just before the 1954 elections when we are going to need all the help we can get.

The two men then settled down for a two-hour discussion of world problems, and Dulles came away with the feeling that the President had given him carte blanche to speak out bluntly at future press conferences.

NOTE—Before he left Denver he did so. Interviewed by the press, the secretary of state said he had no evidence that the Communists were holding back prisoners. Naturally this was immediately picked up by the Reds, and when Gen. B. M. Bryan served an ultimatum on the Reds to return 944 remaining American prisoners—or else—the Reds promptly came back with the statement that there were none. And to back up their contention, they quoted none other than John Foster Dulles and his statement in Denver.

DEMOCRATIC JOCKEYING

Behind all the oratory to which the Windy City will be subjected during the next two days, and behind all the headlines about southern defections from the Democratic Party, there is just one big issue in the minds of those who gather at the Democratic whopfest today. It is

Will Adlai Stevenson be the next candidate of the Democratic Party and the next President of the United States?

There are a lot of side issues, such as the vigor with which the Democrats should criticize Eisenhower; and whether there should be a southern and northern national chairman. But all these shade off into insignificant showboos beside the jockeying over Adlai.

The fact that the jockeying has become so energetic less than a year after one of the most crushing defeats a Democratic candidate ever suffered shows that a definite gleam of confidence is back in Democratic eyes. Most of them figure, rightly or wrongly, that the Democratic nomination in 1956 may be worth a lot of effort.

Regardless of whether this is right or wrong, however, here is how the jockeys line up at the presidential post early in the race:

Jockey No. 1—Cagey, careful Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia doesn't even expect to be at the Chicago conclave. But his potent hand will be felt just the same. One of the ablest of southern senators, Russell went to Venezuela last fall, made no campaign for Stevenson, and privately wants to eulch Adlai out of the 1956 running.

Russell's horses are either Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri or Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas. Both are able, young, handsome, and Symington has a wealth of background in the executive branch of the government as secretary of air, RFC administrator and chairman of the National War Resources Board. But any man who gets out in front too soon in a presidential race is likely to suffer the fate of an older handsome candidate—Paul McNutt of Indiana.

Jockey No. 2—Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Kefauver is riding his own horse, hiding behind no one else, and has a powerful following among grass-roots Democrats. Most Republicans will tell you that if Kefauver had been running last fall instead of Adlai, Ike would have had a tougher battle.

Old guard Democrats don't particularly love Estes. And while Speaker Sam Rayburn and Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama were especially invited to participate at Chicago, Kefauver was largely ignored. In the long run this cold-shouldering helps him with the voters rather than hurts him, and Kefauver will be a man to watch for 1956.

Jockey No. 3—Gov. Mennen Williams of Michigan. "Soapy," as he's called because his family founded the soap and baby powder companies whose names he bears, is not whipping up his horse. He's modestly running only for the Senate from Michigan. But he's one of the most popular Democrats ever to be elected in the normally Republican state of Michigan, and is a man who should be watched for 1956.

Jockey No. 4—Harry Truman himself. Like Russell of Georgia, Harry is a trainer more than a jockey. He's playing no favorites at the moment, but is extremely anxious to pick and train a horse that can win.

In the past he's veered toward Adlai. But Truman has been a bit lirked of late that Adlai hasn't taken off the gloves and slugged at the Republican opposition. He feels that precious months have gone by and important issues have escaped the public merely because the titular leader of the Democratic Party, Stevenson, wasn't energetically carrying the ball.

Those are the chief horses, their jockeys and their trainers, in and out of an unusual three-year-early Democratic gathering—a gathering which indicates there will be a lot of political fireworks during the next three years.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Radar Warning System Provokes Controversy

OTTAWA, Canada—The Canadian government has recently completed its pledge to supply 12 squadrons equipped with all-weather fighter planes to the North Atlantic Treaty military force in Western Europe. With the delivery of the last of the 300 jets, Canada becomes the only NATO power, with the possible exception of the United States, where schedules are still to be filled, to live up to its pledged contribution.

This is a matter of considerable pride in the solid, stable government that has just been re-elected to power by a large majority. It indicates, too, the weight that top policy-makers give to the NATO concept of building a bastion in the heart of the European workshop that is next door to the Communist peril.

The deep conviction of the importance of NATO played a part in the behind-scenes controversy that has taken place over how and where a continental defense system should be established to protect the great industrial complex of the United States and Canada.

That controversy began last spring when the National Security Council in Washington determined that Canada should be asked to co-operate in the immediate construction of a radar warning system built on the very edge of the Arctic waste. This was in line with the recommendation of Project Lincoln, the Air Force research program under protection from an atomic Pearl Harbor being carried out at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

It also was in response to the urging of those concerned with civil defense. They argued that such a line would give a six-hour warning of a bombing attack and with that warning American cities could be effectively evacuated. The Lincoln line, as it has become known, the radar system being built was designed to link up with the radar system being built around Alaska and with a warning system on the big Air Force base at Thule on Greenland. One advantage was that the radar stations could be supplied by ships along the Arctic coast. The estimated cost is said to have been from six hundred million to a billion dollars.

But Canadian military and scientific experts began to find flaws in the idea of an Arctic line. They pointed out that planes passing over it could be detected and their numbers estimated with fair accuracy, but the direction in which they were going could not be determined. This a raid might be aimed at Chicago or Seattle, while on the far Eastern seaboard would be evacuated. After this happened two or three times, disrupting normal life to an extraordinary degree, the system would be abandoned. In a continuing cold war with a growing fear of atomic disaster, the Russians would exploit such a situation, sending planes into the Arctic wilderness for the sole purpose of causing havoc.

The Canadian opposition put a damper on eager, one might also say frantic, determination of the Americans to get on with building the Lincoln line. It is now virtually certain that regardless of the appraisal of the test in the Arctic as to the effectiveness of such a line it will not be built. This was the final view of Gen. Omar Bradley just before he retired as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

In the midst of the argument over the Lincoln line, Canada came up with a new idea for an intermediary line based on more advanced technology. This was the brainchild of a group of brilliant scientists at McGill University in Montreal, among them those who contributed to the pioneering development of radar and the proximity fuse at the beginning of World War II.

The McGill fence, as it is now known, could be far less costly and could be built much more quickly. But even more important, the skilled manpower required to operate it would be a fraction of that required for the Lincoln line. What is more, the radar network now being completed to protect a part of Canada and the U. S. would serve as a backdrop.

All these factors are likely to prove decisive when the joint Canadian-U. S. Defense Board meets at the end of this month. Canadian cabinet members are fearful that if billions are spent for continental defense at the same time the United States is curtailing its aid to Western Europe, the NATO powers will fear a retreat within America and NATO will be weakened or destroyed.

This is still another argument—the clincher from the Canadian viewpoint—for the compromise plan put forward by Canada's military and scientific planners.

BILL DOBLER At City Hall

Lethargy Increases Sewer Problems

City Engineer D. L. Erickson may have something with his belief that sanitary sewers, at least main trunk lines, should be the responsibility of Sanitary District 1.

There appears to be little doubt that the existing split in sewer responsibilities is not the best kind of arrangement. When two governmental sub-divisions can debate between them their responsibilities on any project, it generally turns out to be one of the best excuses for nobody doing anything.

Erickson and Mayor Clark Jeary appear very little disturbed over the current sewer problem. They point to the probable fact that the sanitary sewers are overloaded because of air conditioning water draining into them, and they seem to believe that is some kind of answer to the problem.

True, Erickson has initiated engineering studies, the extent of which are unknown, to determine what kind of improvements are needed on certain city lines and how much the improvements would cost. But these studies are not aimed at solving the most pressing sewer problem.

That problem is the so-called Penitentiary sewer which runs clear from College View around the south part of Lincoln and up Lincoln's west side to N. And regardless of what is overloaded the sewer, raw sewage is being dumped from the State Hospital line into Salt Creek because the Penitentiary main cannot take the Hospital sewage.

And at times of peak loads on the Penitentiary line, that state institution has pumped some of its own sewage directly into Salt Creek to keep it from backing up through the sewer intakes.

Air conditioning water may be overloading the sewer, but it is not the air conditioning water that is being dumped into Salt Creek to breed germs for the spread of various diseases. If the mayor and city engineer are not familiar with the conditions that exist, they might drive out one day to the Van Dorn Street bridge over Salt Creek and get a whiff of what is being dumped in the creek at that point and a look at the slimy, gray water below covered with scum and littered with waste materials.

Health authorities agree it all adds up to an unhealthy condition and one look should convince anyone that the atmosphere and appearance is sickening. Above the point of discharge into the creek, the water runs clear and cool with the channel bottom clearly visible.

At the point of discharge for the sewer, it is impossible to see below the surface of the water. Jeary was right when he recently stated it was silly for two governmental sub-divisions to argue over responsibilities. The next question is, when will the argument cease and constructive action begin?

Unless there are legal issues to stop it, it does seem logical that the Sanitary District should carry the sewer load. The District has assumed the responsibility for some major trunk lines within the city and operates the sewage treatment plant at 22nd and Theresa.

The District, however, may not agree with that line of thought due to its present financial condition. The District is not a long way in debt and the board of directors for the past several years has followed a conservative policy.

Still, the District assumed a big load in the more than $600,000 expansion of the sewage treatment plant. By the end of 1954, according to an audit prepared for the District, there will be a balance of $54,000 in the District's funds.

That would not even provide for the sewer the District plans to construct from the Penitentiary to South Street, which District Engineer Walter B. Coale estimates would cost about $85,000 and would probably have to be financed by the District with a bond issue or special warrants.

Also, the District is limited to an annual levy of 2 mills. One of those mills is levied on a special permit from the Legislature and could be cut out at any legislative session.

Thus, while the District, probably has a more difficult financial problem than the city, it has taken a greater part than the city in Lincoln's sanitary sewer system. The situation presents definite problems that should be solved at an early date.

Regardless of how critical conditions are now, they will become worse with every passing day. Several new home developments in large areas are in the planning stage, one in the developing stage, and both will drain into the already overloaded Penitentiary sewer.

Political Party Rules

Minden, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It is apparent from the lead editorial of Saturday's Star that you do not understand how the rules of political parties are made.

The so-called "non-partisan unicameral legislature" adopted the pre-primary convention law, which required the political parties to hold pre-primary conventions. Our party convention adopted a party rule complying with this law. All this occurred long before this "political bigwig" became chairman of the Democratic party of Nebraska.

The last "unicameral" repealed the pre-primary convention law, but it did not forbid, and surely did not intend to forbid, the holding of a pre-primary or mid-term, or any other kind of political party convention.

In the Democratic party, the conventions make the rules of the party. The state chairman cannot change the convention rules and neither can the State Central Committee. It will be up to the next Democratic convention to decide whether the Democratic party of this state will continue to hold "pre-primary conventions." Under the present rules it appears that we are required to hold a convention before the next primary election.

Perhaps the name-calling in your recent editorial was inspired by a hope of preserving the special influence which the press and the press associations have enjoyed with the so-called "non-partisan unicameral" type of legislature we have in Nebraska at the present time.

Motor Carriers' Side

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Sept. 14, the effective date of L.B. 114, is the day that the profit will be taken out of overloading trucks.

The Nebraska Motor Carriers' Association's support of L.B. 114, that increases overload penalties 500 per cent, is a major step in "putting our own house in order." A truck operator who overloads his truck will be subjected to possible fines up to a maximum of several thousands of dollars. Once an operator gets a taste of these excessive fines he will watch his loading with close scrutiny. Increased fines are as follows:

10 per cent overload—$50 to $100 fine.
10 per cent to 20 per cent overload—$100 to $200 fine.
20 per cent to 30 per cent overload—$200 to $300 fine.
30 per cent to 40 per cent overload—$300 to $400 fine.
40 per cent to 50 per cent overload—$400 to $500 fine.
Over 50 per cent overload—$500 fine.

(An overload can be guilty on several counts.)

In regard to the tolerance feature of L.B. 114, there has never been a more continuous exaggerated public distortion on any proposition than has been attributed to the tolerance feature of L.B. 114 by certain adverse interests. The main purpose of L.B. 114 was to stop overloading.

Members of the Legislature after complete study of the facts and evidence recognized the peculiarities of the motor carrier industry regarding conditions over which the operators do not have control. The tolerance was to take care of these conditions, and not to increase loads. A few of these conditions are:

- 1—Scale error. (The only evidence that can be used to convict.) An industry test showed variation of scale weights of as much as 19 per cent, the two state operated scales show a variation of from .009 per cent to .034 per cent.
- 2—Ice, snow, wind, mud, etc. (It is not uncommon that these factors will vary from 1 to 3 per cent or more.)
- 3—Weight of liquid products vary with the temperature as much as 3 per cent or more.
- 4—Even manufacturers of motor carrier equipment will not guarantee within 1½ per cent to build equipment to exact weight.

5—Shippers in some instances make errors in billing of 4 per cent or more.

6—Shift of livestock varies axle weights as much as 6 to 8 per cent or more. Other commodities also shift.

7—Grain, hay, etc., weigh differently by several percentage points when wet or dry. The same thing is true with sand, gravel, salt, etc.

The purpose of L.B. 114 was to minimize overloading, and to take the profit out of overloading, and to punish severely those who do; L.B. 114 does just that. Any operator who tries to use the tolerance to increase loads will run into the conditions, which actually exist, over which he has no control, and will be subjected to the stiff fines—and bingo—he will change his ways.

I urge the motor carrier industry to strictly comply with the provisions of L.B. 114. Our actions will be closely watched by the public and it is up to us to make this law function as intended.

PAUL HALPINE,
Secretary, Nebraska
Motor Carriers' Assn.

Sterilization Law

Milton, Mass.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: During 1952 Nebraska protected two of its insane and 35 of its feeble-minded persons from transmitting their undesirable heredity to children. By a foresighted law passed in 1915, such persons can be sterilized at state expense.

Although some of the potential children might not inherit the insanity or mental deficiency, each would suffer from upbringing by a mentally abnormal parent.

Nebraska is to be congratulated on its rate of protection of the next generation. The 37 sterilizations reported in 1952 are 2.8 per 100,000 inhabitants. The rate exceeds that of 18 other states having sterilization laws. Twenty-seven of the United States, more than half of the total, provide this measure of preventive medicine at state expense.

Water For A City

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In the light of recent comment on the water shortage in Lincoln, I thought the enclosed clipping would be of interest.

READER

Editor's Note: The reference is to an editorial in the Chicago Daily News telling of establishment of an all-time pumping record during the recent heat wave. In a seven-day period Chicago's 12 pumping stations produced nearly 10 billion gallons of water—an all-time record—and probably an all-time world's record. The News says, "Not only Chicago but the 51 suburbs which use city water got all that was desired without interruption or lessened pressure. The pumping stations, working at peak capacity night and day, suffered only one breakdown and it was repaired in less than 12 hours."

Horses And Autos

Bladen, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Times have greatly changed. Years ago, when a horse would run away and kill a man, we thought it awful and the horse would be disposed of or destroyed. Now the automobile is killing people every day and nothing is thought of it.

I wonder what has gone wrong. Could it be liquor? If so, let us do away with it and let doctors and drug stores have it for medicine. When a man is well he does not need alcoholic drinks, but it is beneficial in many kinds of medicine.

New Dawn--Nice New Week

SO BEGINS a new dawn—a nice new week—and life, at the moment, seems very worthwhile indeed — Just learned that an exceedingly interesting guest is arriving for a brief visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wilson — She is Nena Badenoch who has the distinction of receiving McCall's gold Mike—the magazine's public service award—for her outstanding achievements in TV and radio. Mrs. Badenoch is head of the TV and radio programs for the National Society for Crippled Children, and it was for this public service that she received the "Mike." Mrs. Badenoch is stopping off in Lincoln en route from Chicago to the West Coast.

AND WE heard that the members of a dinner club began the new season on Saturday evening when the 16 members were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Joyce Ayres at their home.

ON NEXT Thursday's calendar is another first-of-the-season bridge club meeting — when Mrs. Richard Kosman will be hostess to the members of her bridge eight some at her home.

THINK WE told you several days ago that Miss Virginia Faulkner of Pacific Grove, Calif., planned a visit to Lincoln in mid-September—Miss Faulkner will come on Tuesday to spend a few weeks as the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Faulkner.

HAVE A little news this aye from Bassinet circles here—and there—First we learned that young Roger Don Albin arrived last Thursday—Sept. 10—at Bryan Memorial Hospital. Roger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Albin, and his mother is the former June Dusenbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Dusenbury of Pawnee City. The young man's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Albin.

THEN CAME word of the arrival of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Curtis of Omaha on Thursday, Sept. 10, at the Hebron Hospital. Mrs. Curtis is the former Joan Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller of Geneva, and Pi Beta Phi at the University of Nebraska. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Curtis, also of Geneva. We hear that the "and baby" makes three—Curtisses will reside in Omaha until Mr. Curtis completes his studies at the University of Nebraska college of medicine.

SOMEONE just told us that Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Wolf of Babylon, Long Island, N.Y., are visiting relatives and friends in Lincoln and Edgar. When the Wolfs return East the family foursome will be depleted—by one. Miss Carol Wolf will remain in Lincoln where she is attending the University of Nebraska.

THEN, drifting our way this morning was the news that Mr. and Mrs. William A. Stewart Jr., and their daughter, Leslie, have become residents of Lincoln, and are getting settled in their new home in the vicinity of Van Dorn and 17th Street. Mr. Stewart recently returned from two years of duty in Korea, and in his absence Mrs. Stewart and Leslie spent the time in Lexington with Mr. Stewart's family—with occasional visits to the West Coast where Mrs. Stewart's family resides.

Mrs. Stewart will be remembered in former campus circles as Mary Ryons, Kappa Kappa Gamma. Mr. Stewart, who now is resuming his studies at the University of Nebraska college of law, is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

ALSO HEARD that Mr. and Mrs. Bert Reed are back home after several weeks abroad — Mr. and Mrs. Reed visited the Scandinavian countries — then flew from there to Italy—and from Italy to Spain where they lingered for some time.

GAVE THE week a careful look—with an eye to the week-end, of course — and found that the bridge groups are resuming the desert-bridge pattern after the summer interim—In fact a club or two got off to a good start the past week end.

On Friday, for instance, Mrs. James Critchfield was hostess to the members of her bridge-eight some at her home—

MRS. J. LEE DYER

MRS. RICHARD HAROLD OLDFATHER

Brides At Mid-September Weddings

The marriage of Miss Donna Joyce Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hansen of Pierce, to J. Lee Dyer of Omaha, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Earl Dyer of Nebraska City, took place at 3 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, Sept. 13. Chrysanthemums and asters in autumn tones of russet and bronze and tall lighted candles, appointed the chancel of the Pierce Methodist Church for the ceremony which was solemnized by the Rev. George Schwabauer.

Miss Naida Watson, pianist, played the wedding music and preceding the service accompanied Clint Heyer of Pierce who sang "Because," "Through The Years," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The matron of honor was Mrs. Keith Bishop of Red Oak, Ia., who wore a ballerina frock of iridescent taffeta shading from Du Barry pink to deeper rose. Narrow cording of taffeta trimmed the cap-sleeved bodice and beneath a contoured waist, the skirt flared into fullness. Costumed identically were the bridesmaids, Mrs. Richard Davidson of Council Bluffs, Ia., and Mrs. Herman Spomer of Lincoln, and the bridesmaid, Miss Amy Jurgens of Omaha, and wearing white taffeta was the flower girl, Miss Julie Johnson of Pierce. The attendants carried colonial nosegays of pink gladioli florets.

The bride chose for her wedding a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin. A high winged collar and long fitted sleeves accented the basque bodice, and the waltz-length skirt was caught into minute pleats to form a panier effect. Her tiered veil of silk illusion was held by a Juliet cap of lace embroidered with seed pearls and brilliants, and she carried a white Bible ornamented with a single white orchid and showered with Stephanotis.

Serving his brother as best man was Gene Dyer of Richmond, Wash., and seating the guests were Earl Dyer Jr., of Lincoln, also a brother of the bridegroom, Alton Knosp of Omaha, and Vincent Hansen of Pierce, brother of the bride.

A reception was held in the parlors of the church after which the couple left for a honeymoon trip to the Black Hills. Mrs. Dyer wore for traveling a brown wool ensemble with brown and bitter-sweet accessories.

A graduate of the Nebraska Methodist Hospital school of nursing in Omaha, the bride is attending Omaha University. Mr. Dyer is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and is a senior at the University of Nebraska college of medicine in Omaha where he is a member of Phi Chi medical fraternity.

At a late afternoon ceremony which took place Saturday, Sept. 12, Miss Janice Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Carter of Omaha, became the bride of Lt. Richard Harold Oldfather, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Oldfather of Kearney. The chancel of the First Methodist Church at Omaha was screened with woodwardia, white gladioli and chrysanthemums, and lighted by white cathedral candles, and the pews of the processional aisle were marked with clusters of the blossoms tied with white satin, for the service which was solemnized by Dr. E. Wesley Perry.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Howard Rushon, organist, who also accompanied Robert P. Dean who sang "I Love Thee," and "The Lord's Prayer," as the 300 guests assembled.

Costumed identically in copper-toned silk taffeta were the matron of honor, Mrs. C. Richard Worrall of Lincoln, the bridesmaid, Mrs. Herbert Engdahl, and the bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Lee Paynter, both of Omaha. Short-sleeved jackets of the taffeta covered strapless, tucked bodices and the wide skirts were waltz length. They carried crescent bouquets of gold and russet pompoms and wore chignon clusters of the flowers in their hair.

White slipper satin fashioned the bride's period gown which was accented with imported Venetian lace. The rounded, cameo neckline was accented with appliques of the lace, and brief sleeves completed the molded bodice. Tapering side panels of the lace trimmed the full skirt, which ended in a train, and a cap of lace over satin held her illusion veil. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and Stephanotis.

Charles E. Oldfather of Lincoln served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Alan Oldfather of Lincoln, also a brother of the bridegroom, Dr. B. J. Sanchez of Nebraska City, Jack Erickson and John Peterson, both of Kearney.

Immediately following the 4 o'clock ceremony, a reception was held in the parlors of the church. For their wedding trip to Colorado, Mrs. Oldfather wore a tuxedo suit with mauve and brown tones with brown accessories.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, Lt. Oldfather, who is stationed with the Air Force at San Antonio, Tex., where the couple will reside, attended the University of Colorado and is a graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Dentistry. He is a member of Chi Psi and Xi Psi Phi dental fraternity.

Beverly Whitted Is Bride

bridegroom, who wore white satin choir robes.

Burley Williams served his brother-in-law as best man, and the guests were seated by Charles Kuera of Brainard, and Noah Whatley.

For the ceremony the bride chose a box-jacket suit of pastel blue wool with which she wore brown velvet accessories. She carried a single lavender orchid from which fell a shower of ribbons caught with feathered white carnations.

After the reception for the 75 wedding guests, held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Whitted left for a honeymoon trip to Florida and upon their return will reside at 1424 A street. For traveling Mrs. Whitted wore a brown checked wool suit, with brown accessories.

this year's City Tournament, defeated Ruckols, 3-0. Reed, 1952 State Golf Champion, defeated Sick 2 1/2 to 1/2, and in the best ball play in the four-some Reed and Chadwell won 3-0.

Sixteen players from each club competed in the first round of the matches Sunday at Hillcrest, with Hillcrest winning easily. Next week the match will be resumed at the Lincoln Country Club. (Star Staff Photo.)

Only Five Practices Until Oregon Opener

'Team A Quarter' Scheme Looms Bright

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

Only five shopping days until the Oregon opener.

That is the story in the Nebraska football camp as J. William Glassford preps his wards for the Saturday invasion of the aerial-minded Webfoot.

Judging from the final intrasquad game Saturday, the Huskers may be able to carry out Glassford's "team a quarter" scheme more effectively than earlier was expected.

This was proven as the Whites, the Dierks Rolston No. 2 team, upset the Reds, 13-7, and in the doing won on yardage, completed passes and about every other offensive item.

After the firing ended, several pertinent facts were hammered between the ears of observers:

(1) That the first and second teams, without Tailback John Bordogna, are quite even in ability.

(2) That Halfback Dennis Korinek and Tackle Max (Muscles) Kitzelman are going to be tough customers to keep off the first team.

(3) That little Dierks Rolston is not totally lost in this new era of the two-way gridder.

(4) That Rex Fischer, although booming with promise, still cannot carry the vital tailback load through an entire game.

Gavilan To Defend Title On Friday

NEW YORK (AP) — Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan is a 3½-1 favorite to make good in the sixth defense of his crown on Friday night when he takes on Carmen Basilio of Canastota, N. Y., at Syracuse, N. Y.

The two will meet over the 15-round route in the Memorial Auditorium. Starting time is 8 p.m. CST. The bout will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast coast to coast. The telecast, however, will be blacked out within a 100-mile radius of Syracuse.

Although Basilio, a busy, aggressive fighter, isn't given much of a chance against the sharp-shooting, canny Cuban, promoter Norm Rothchild expects to gross around $100,000 for the title scrap. The big attraction is Basilio, a local favorite.

The Syracuse fans also remember Gavilan's upset loss to Danny (Bang Bang) Womber in the same arena May 2. That was The Kid's first loss in over 2½ years. He has won seven fights this year, the last being a ten-round nod over middleweight Ralph (Tiger) Jones at Madison Square Garden Aug. 26. Gavilan weighed 154 pounds that night and he had less than a month to cut down to the 147-pound limit.

Alan Moody, one of the best young welterweight prospects in the business, meets his first major foe Wednesday night when he tangles with eighth-ranked Del Flanagan of St. Paul in the Chicago Stadium. Moody, of Chicago, has a 25-1 record with 15 knockouts.

The ten rounder (starting 8 p.m. CST) will be telecast (CBS) coast to coast.

Welterweights also are featured in the week's coast-to-coast TV show. This one is at the Boston Garden Saturday night and matches Gerry Dwyer, the British Empire 147-pound champ from South Africa and Wilbur Wilson of Boston.

The ten rounder begins at 7 p.m. CST, and will be telecast by ABC.

Monday night's TV-network fight (Dumont) matches a pair of high ranking lightweights, Arthur King of Toronto, and Wallace (Bud) Smith of Cincinnati, at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena. King is the No. 4 contender and Smith the No. 5 challenger. The ten rounder starts at 8 p.m. CST.

Mino Valdes, the big Cuban heavyweight who whipped Ezzard Charles, faces Charlie (Doc) Williams of Nahwah, N. J., in a ten at Miami Beach, Tuesday night.

Truckers' Misuse Of 'Tolerance' Scored

New Law Effective On Monday

Paul Halpine, executive secretary of the Nebraska Motor Carriers' Association, Sunday urged the motor carrier industry to comply strictly with the provisions of LB 114, the truck regulation bill which becomes effective Monday.

The bill, sometimes called the "Truck Tolerance Bill," provides a margin of truck overload before the trucker can be fined, but increases penalties for loading over the tolerance.

Halpine said the purpose of the bill was to minimize overloading and to take the profit out of overloading and to punish severely those who do.

"Our actions will be closely watched by the public and it is up to us to make this law function as intended," Halpine said. Halpine said the "tolerance" feature has been the subject of "continuous exaggerated public distortion."

He listed factors that prompted the tolerance feature, such as scale error, shifting of loads in the truck, fluctuations in weight of such things as grain and hay by being wet or dry, and ice, snow, wind and mud.

There have been reports that some truckers planned to regularly carry heavier loads to take advantage of the tolerance feature.

"Any operator that tries to use the tolerance to increase loads will run into the conditions, which actually exist, over which he has no control, and will be subjected to the stiff fines — and bingos — he will change his ways," say Halpine.

Stars Applaud Boni Buehler In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Boni Buehler, the pretty airline stewardess who lost her left arm and leg in a speedboat accident four weeks ago Sunday, made her first public appearance since the tragedy, and was given an ovation by a crowd of Hollywood celebrities.

She and her mother, Mrs. Alice Buehler, Scottsbluff, Neb., appeared last night at a makeup artists' affair honoring "Deb-Stars," or youngsters in movies and television for whom stardom may be in prospect.

Marjorie Miller, Miss Buehler's roommate and friend since they attended Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., was one of the "Deb-Stars."

When Miss Buehler, 23, and her mother, escorted by Geary Steffen, appeared amid midway in the program, the mistress of ceremonies, actress Jane Wyman, announced her presence to the crowd of nearly 1,000. A spotlight was turned on her as she sat smiling in her wheelchair.

Crowd Applauds
The crowd rose spontaneously and gave Miss Buehler thunderous applause. Mrs. Buehler wept a little.

Steffen, former husband of actress Jane Powell, saved Miss Buehler's life after the accident. He was water skiing behind the speedboat from which she fell, to be mangled by its propellers. He helped take her out of the water and breathed into her mouth while she was being taken ashore and to a hospital.

Nebraska Safety Patrol will close its training camp for recruits at Ashland on Friday with 32 of the original 34 completing the five weeks course.

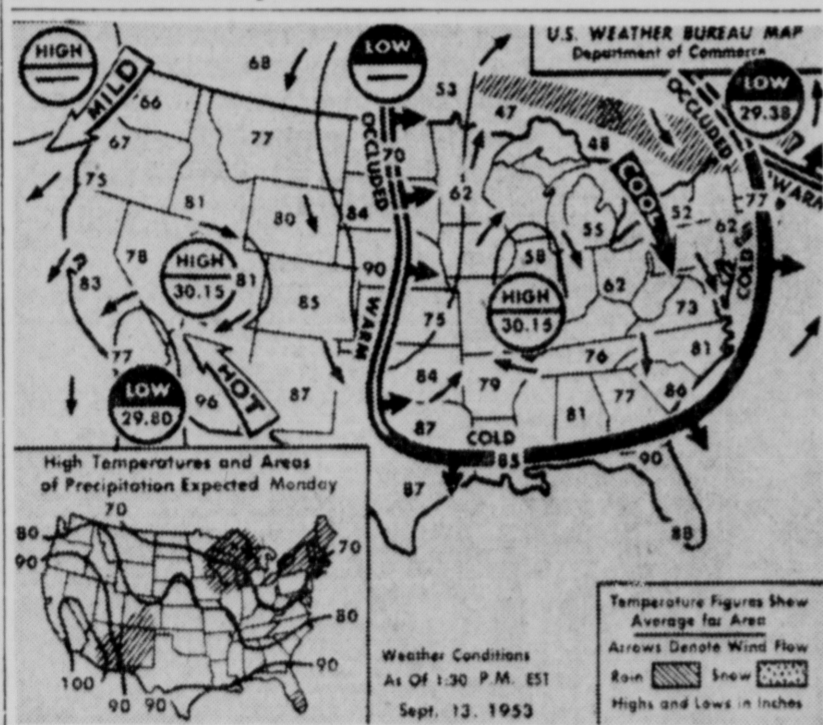

At least 23 of the top candidates will be immediately employed by the patrol, Col. C. J. Sanders said. The balance of those with satisfactory grades will be put on the reserve list.

Rock Island The New ATLANTIC CUT-OFF

Rock Island proudly announces the completion of another great engineering triumph — the new ATLANTIC (Iowa) CUT-OFF. This multi-million dollar line relocation — 35 miles of new railway between Atlantic and Council Bluffs — marks one more dramatic achievement in the long list of ROCK ISLAND'S historic improvements. The elimination of 10.2 time-consuming miles, of 1629 degrees of curvature, and of 127 feet of rise and fall, all accomplished by this new segment on the Chicago-Colorado route, insure the ultimate in smooth, safe, efficient transportation.

An 1857 Recommendation Becomes a 1953 Reality!
Almost 100 years ago General Grenville M. Dodge recommended the construction of the original line over what is now the new right-of-way. But back in 1857 powerful, earth-moving machinery was not available and the cost of man-operated shovels for cuts and fills was prohibitive. So it was not until nearly a century later that the original recommendation was acted upon.

The Better to Serve You
Today, over the new Atlantic Cut-off speed the popular ROCKY MOUNTAIN ROCKET and CORN BELT ROCKET, also the famous, diesel-powered ROCKET FREIGHTS. The purpose of these trains, now as always, is to provide a service that travelers and shippers will find entirely to their liking.

FOUR MAJOR PROJECTS, All a Part of Rock Island's service via the Chicago, Council Bluffs, Omaha and Denver Gateways

The Atlantic-Council Bluffs relocation — a reduction in miles, curves and hills

The recently completed East Yard at Council Bluffs, Iowa — faster terminal car handling

The Denver Cut-off, placed in operation in the spring of 1951 — saves 7 to 13 hours per car

From Lincoln Pulpits:

Church Divine Calling, Not Man-Made, Rev. Stilwell Says

The church did not come into existence through any act of man alone—it is a divine creation, the Rev. James Stilwell said at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church Sunday morning.

"When we speak of the church in the creeds," he said, "one word we use to describe it is 'holy.' But we have somehow today lost the conception of the word 'holy.'"

Rev. Stilwell said the people of the Old Testament had an awe and respect for the things of God and for God's action in the world. He quoted God as saying to Moses: "Draw not nigh hither; put off thy shoes from off thy feet for the place whereon thou standest is holy ground."

"When we say that the church is holy," he said, "we should be looking at its true beginning as a group founded by God, its true nature as the body of Christ, and its true fellowship as the fellowship of the Holy Ghost."

The church is too often equated with other organizations which specialize in works of mercy and charity or teach an ethic, he said. Rev. Stilwell said these things are true of the church but should not stop there.

"The church not only teaches us how to live," he said, "it is through the church that our eternal salvation is accomplished."

Redeemer Lutheran

In spiritual things as well as in physical things there is a law of cause and effect that is always at work, the Rev. Melvin J. Tassler told his congregation at Redeemer Lutheran Church.

"There is no known exception to, or evasion of, the law that there is a reaping that corresponds with that which has been sown," he said.

Rev. Tassler quoted the words of Paul as he told the Galatians that "sowing to the flesh" produces its own natural harvest—corruption.

"The mere animal life to which so many have given themselves, the life of purely worldly interests, the life of the lower self is in itself a life of corruptible things," he said. "Its soil and nourishment are earthly and cannot possibly outlast death."

Thieves steal and moth and rust eat into the treasures of life before death, he said. The soul, he said, is also corrupted as its faculties gradually dissipate and decay.

Under the law of cause and effect, Rev. Tassler said, "sowing to the spirit" produces its own harvest of eternal life.

"Spiritual things are eternal things," he said. "Treasures in heaven to which sowing leads are beyond destroying influences."

Man has that which will outlast death, he said, by cultivating his spiritual life through faith in Jesus Christ and by living a life emanating from that faith.

"Money goes, but faith remains," Rev. Tassler said. "The pleasures of the senses escape, but the peace of God never fails. Self-seeking leads to dissatisfaction and spiritual ruin, but the Self-seeking leads to dissatisfaction with undying interests."

Cash Corn Weak; Future Sales Up

CHICAGO—Grain futures ended the week in a nervous condition after being subjected to a number of conflicting influences.

Reaction to the government crop estimates resulted in selling in corn and buying in soybeans. A weaker trend in cash corn also caused selling in futures, following an opposite trend last Tuesday.

QUIRKS
KALAMAZOO, Mich. — Mechanical troubles kept radio station WKZO off the air for nearly three hours after the regular starting time.
The loudest complaints came from listeners who had their clock radios tuned to the station, so didn't get awakened on time.
One of them demanded that the station "call my boss and explain why I'm late."
MEXICO CITY (AP)—The palace of fine arts was packed and pianist Arthur Rubenstein was on hand and ready to give his widely advertised concert. Then the event was postponed... no piano.
Someone forgot to round up a crew to bring the piano from the basement and last-minute efforts to raise it by elevator failed.
LOS ANGELES — St. Louis Albert Estes of Van Nuys got a speeding ticket. When the municipal judge asked him about several other traffic tickets attached to his name, Estes denied them, saying they were his brothers'.
The confusion was cleared up when it was explained that the name of St. Louis Albert Estes' father is St. Louis Albert Estes, as are the names of all five of his brothers.
There are six men driving cars under the name St. Louis Albert Estes. They identify themselves as first, second, third, etc. The one in question is number five.
The six identically named brothers have six sisters, but their names are different.
MIAMI, Fla. (INS) — It seems things aren't tough enough for hurricane forecasters of the Miami Weather Bureau.
People have been pestering the forecasters with requests to name the next hurricane after girl friends and women relatives.
The weather experts politely tell the folks that the names of the howlers have already been chosen from a list compiled by an Air Force and Navy committee in Washington.
INDIANAPOLIS — An enthusiastic press agent casting about for a snappy beginning came up with this gem publicizing the Indiana State Fair spelling bee: "All those who can spell 'cat' and such words as 'clostrophobia'..."
The only trouble was that he misspelled claustrophobia.
